THE BALTIMORE SUN AGAIN.

The Baltimore Sun of Tuesday las when commenting on THE TIMES' article of last week entitled "Unwarranted Abuse," was in both a jocular and sareastic mood. Instead of discussing the salient points of that article it trumps up a minor matter and makes it a target for ridicule, smothering several wholesome truths which The Sun, with what remains of its moral perception, was able to see but too damaging to its position to discuss.

Why didn't The Sun discuss the propositions that the Wilson bill might have been "dangerous to the best interests of the country and the party;" that "Mr. Wilson, yielded the point that it (the Senate bill) was a vast improvement on the McKinley bill and in no way barred the path to further tariff reform;" that the wicked fulminations of The Sun were calculated to "wreck the party and hand the national councils over to the advocates of McKinleyism;" that "the business pulse has been quickened under it (the Senate bill);" that it is at least "a safe measure;" that "no possible harm can come to the industries and the Democratic party;" that "there is no real issue is this state between Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Gorman;" that "all of the soand a score of other points equally plain but studiously avoided.

The Sun hitherto so potent a factor in moulding public opinion in Maryland everywhere for its passage. Imported has got far below its former plane in that food, woods, and lumber, china and so many people now see that it has de- glassware, pocket-knives and table-knivscended to exhibitions of personal spite, not seeming to care what divisions may occur in the party.

It was in nowise censurable for The Suntto criticise Mr. Gorman's position when tariff legislation was pending, but to follow him up after the Senate bill has become a law and charge him with duplicity and being a creature of the sugar trust, and kindred bad things, all pretense is made by a few manufacturers based upon the merest conjecture, is not of anticipated distress from the reducin accordance with the hitherto high tion of certain protective duties, but for pretensions of the Sun.

The sneer that THE TIMES is Mr Gorman's "organ," is but another of The | never could have existed without arti-Sun's infamous and reckless assertions in its mad chase after Mr. Gorman. The editor of this paper is under no obligations to Mr. Gorman, not having had which must always constitute by far the intercourse with him of any kind but once in a number of years and that once in a very casual manner. On the contrary THE TIMES has been led to speak some good words for Mr. Gorman because we have seen in him the individual who has been able to give the country some substantial tariff reform in an hour when Democratic ardency would have defeated the very end so strenuously fought for.

The Sun, unguardedly of course, deifies Mr. Gorman. It accords him with powers no man in the halls of Congress ever possessed. By its line of argument it is implied that Mr. Gorman could have passed the Wilson bill. Did any man ever possess so potent an influence as to cause 43 Senators to right-about-face at the word of command? The truth is, Mr. Gorman seeing the dilemma the country was likely to be in on the tariff question accomplished what was possible and what may prove salutary for the

In the very issue that The Sun so sarcastically condemns Mr. Gorman we find praise for what it chooses to call the Gorman tariff bill.

Calling attention to the fact that "the evidences of increasing business activity are multiplying and becoming more marked day by day," it unguardedly commends what it has chosen all along to call Mr. Gorman's work. The Sun rejoices over this improved condition at some length and in the exhuberance of its joy counsels that "the wise and enterprising citizen will now turn in and paddle with the tide instead of against

It would seem that The Sun demands of the Democratic party tariff reformers of a mould that existed previous to 1860, forgetting that conditions are vastly dif. | fever left her deaf and speechless. ferent. Serious Democrats regard the course of The Sun as vicious in a very high degree. It has persistently sought to divide the Democracy at a time when we need a united front. A division of the party in the Fifth congressional district means a McKinleyite, if not a Force Bill man, in Congress instead of Mr. Rogers. The Sun has absolutely no defensible reason for its course and it ought to see that it will eventually come out of the little end of the horn. A large majority of the delegates which have made up the Democratic congressional conventions have been what The Sun chooses to call "Gorman's henchmen," news send it.

and what is most inexplicable to The Sun is, they were willing to pass resolutions endorsing Mr. Cleveland, proving our statement last week that all the socalled Gorman men are as true tariff reformers as the more radical and incautions wing of the Democratic party Give us tariff reform and plenty of it, but don't lime the soil too much all at once, and don't let the devil and the Republicans have all the good sense. There are signs that everywhere in the Fifth congressional district that the Democrats will come up to the "scratch" on the congressional nominees-Rogers and Wells. It is gratifying to note that the toesin sounded Being satisfied with the men the question of tariff, still undetermined, is how that fact can be reconciled with the made the issue on which the Democrats are willing to go before the people. It they know that American wool has not is safe to say that the people are better informed on the tariff question than ever before and understand it as a tax | be baled up tenderly and spoken of only rather than as a means of promoting with a patriotic quaver in the voice, and the general welfare.

Both Vermont and Maine, especially the latter, have gone Republican by increased majorities. This was no more than expected. In the campaign of 1892 at once springs up and the price of wool these states had not more than half waked up to a realizing sense of the questions than ever to Mckinley this value of tariff reform and being an off year the disciples of Protection took occasion to put in their best work. It is probable that free lumber had something to do with the majority in Maineone of the best arguments that the consumers of the land need protection with

The Baltimore Sun attributes th Democratic defeat in Maine to "Gormanism." Great Casar! what will Mr. Gorman be charged with next? If the Senate bill was the cause of the Democratic poor success in Maine where would the party be had the Wilson bill passed? Not a grease spot of it would now be in existence.

Mugwump Oracle Finds Some Things in the Gorman Law.

From the Harper's Weekly. In the first place the law has made cer tain the replenishment of the Treasury and removed all risk of a further in crease in the permanent national debt. Again, it insures the cheapening, to a necessaries and comforts of life, reduchold, without weakening the resources and carpets will be cheaper and better Howard county.

This is the plain issue before us: Our es, nearly all the completed goods the use of which is so large a part of civilized life, together with the materials of which they are made, share in the large reductions of duty. These changes alone will certainly, within a few months, make every man's daily earnings more valuable to him than now. But they Mr. Rogers is an able speaker and will do far more than this. They will do much to revive depressed industry and to restore general prosperity. A this we can find no foundation in the law. Even the exorbitant profits of certain forced and petted industries, which been done to give a real and important help to those industries which are not that every removal of them is a national But the brightest feature of this tariff is found in the fact that it is a turning point in the history of our economic legislation. It signalizes the final stage in the most costly experiment ever tried by a peaceful nation. For an entire generation of men this country has continued to apply the doctrines of an unscientific, narrow, provincial school of economists, who teach that a people can enrich themselves by diverting their energies from more to less productive black. industries, by taxing, hampering, and discouraging those activities for which their soil, climate, and abilities are adapt ed, and fostering those which are unnatural to them. As all economists o world-wide repute have taught from the first, such an effort must fail, and the semblance of success can only be maintained as long as the taxes and discriminations the system requires continue to grow heavier. Accordingly, tariff after tariff has been passed in successive years, each more burdensome and more unjust than its predecessor, until in the McKinley law of 1890 the protective system reached its culmination, and broke down. The experiment has failed. In the new law the Nation has turned its face toward justice, toward economical truth, toward lasting prosperity, toward ultimate free

The bolt went through a two-foot brick wall into the dining-room. where Mr. Zelinka, Mrs. Fisher and her little girl were discussing the storm. It passed between Mrs. Fisher and Mary, The two sat motionless several seconds, when the little girl got up, and, pointing her finger to her ear, said: "Mamma, I heard that. Let's go home." This is the first time, it is said, that she has spoken since an attack of scarlet

We are already beginning to see tha ree wool is going to do for woolen man ufacturers in this country what free raw silk has done for the silk manufacture and free hides for the boot and shoe industry. The woolen manufacturers are have known in years, and are already of cloth which never before could be made in this country on account of the prohibitory duties on the wool necessary to make them. At the same time, the price of American wool is advancing-it has gone up something like 30 per cent, within the last sixty days. This is the simple business fact which s too much for the arithmetic of those who dwell in the shadow of McKinley and Tom Reed. The latter's Portland organ does not deny that the price of American Wool is advancing, but asks law of demand and supply. Bless th innocent hearts of these theorists, don' been treated all these years as a part of the "supply" at all? It has been re garded as a sort of national fetich, to kept from defiling contact with foreign wool, but as a component part of a manufactured product it has not been considered at all. But at last the woolen manufacturers have a tariff which is actually going to enable them to make woole goods, and the demand for raw material dvances all over the world. The Ohio wool-growers are likely to put uglier fall. It will take all the resources of his giant intellect to explain to them how it is that, while his increased duties knocked down the price of wool, free wool instantly means money in their

The Great Question.

Maryland Republican. With the possible exception of a decaration in fayor of free sugar, the Catonsville resolutions are all that could be desired by the most ardent tariff reformer. The resolutions are all the better from the fact that they were given their true ring by the candidates who have been selected to make the fight upon this platform. There can be no doubt that Dr. George Wells and John G. Rogers are earnestly in favor of tariff reform, as laid down by Groyer Cleveland and Wm. L. Wilson, and that when elected they will continue the fight in favor of this great principle of the democratic party. * * * The great question to be decided by the voters of the fifth congressional district in regard to a representative in the congress of the United States, is: When the tariff fight is again taken up, as it will be early next winter, when under the lead of Wm. L. Wilson, bills are being passed through the House of Representa tives placing iron, coal and sugar on the free list, how shall the Fifth congressional district be represented. If you want your representative to vote "aye" then east your ballots in November next for Dr. Geo. Wells, of Anne Arundel substantial extent, of a multitude of the county. If you want him to vote "no," then go to the polls and aid in the election of the Hon. Charles E. Coffin, of Prince George's county? If you want of the government. Clothing of every for genuine tariff reform, then in description, cloths, dress goods, blankets, November vote for J. G. Rogers, of duty is equally plain.
